NAZI RAIL LINES HIT IN AIR ATTACK

Churchill Pledges British Aid Against Japan

CONGRESS TOLD BRITISH HAVE STAKE IN EAST

Prime Minister Makes Second Appearance Before U. S. Lawmakers.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 19—Setting his jaw firmly, Prime Minister Churchill pledged today British participation in an eventual finish fight until Japan's war industries and cities are laid in ashes.

The British Churchill said, will be in there fighting "side by side with you while there is breath in our bodies and blood flows in our veins."

When that finish fight will come he did not specify, but his ringing prophecy of utter destruction of the enemy in the Pacific sounded to a joint session of congress, went out over the air waves to the world abroad—enemy and allied countries alike.

There was thunderous applause from members of congress and high officials of this and the British government as the black-suited prime minister spread his feet apart, stuck his hands in his pockets in a characteristic gesture and made his declaration.

Then, he disclosed a moment later, he and President Roosevelt hope for a meeting soon with Premier Stalin of Russia and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek of China.

Churchill declared also that Britain's air offensive is forcing Germany to withdraw "more and more" planes from the fighting fronts to "purely defensive" operations at the expense in loss of aggression and initiative.

This, he said, will prove a "major factor in bringing victory."

As for Japan's cities and war industries, Churchill flatly declared:

"In ashes they must surely lie before peace comes to the world."

"I regard the bringing of immediate and effective aid to China," Churchill said, "as one of the most urgent of our common tasks."

He turned to a discussion of the war in the Pacific soon after beginning his extemporaneous remarks, as if taking note of recent speeches in the senate urging that the war against Japan be given precedence over the destruction of Hitler and Mussolini in Europe.

Recounting the loss of the Dutch East Indies and of the Malayan peninsula and the great British base at Singapore, Churchill said that "all this has to be retrieved and much else has to be repaired."

Let no one suggest, the prime minister said, that Britain has not at least as great interest in the Pacific war as the United States.

Dignitaries Present

United Nations dignitaries assembled for Churchill's first public appearance and utterance after more than a week's secret war conferences with President Roosevelt and the Anglo-American high commands.

A tight ring of armed guards was stationed around the Capitol for Churchill's visit. Helmeted troops, armed with rifles, were posted at 20-foot intervals to form an outer circle, while others did sentinel duty at the entrances. District of Columbia and Capitol police, along with a big detail of secret service men, augmented the soldier guard.

Churchill entered the Capitol building at 12:15 p. m. eastern war time as spectators cheered. It was a sort of combined empire and United Nations day. In Churchill's party were such dignitaries as Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada; the Duke and Duchess of Windsor; Crown Princess Martha of Norway; Myron Taylor, special ambassador of President Roosevelt to the Vatican, and Bernard M. Baruch, presidential consultant. Mrs. Churchill's personal secretary, also was in the party, coming with the British leader from the White House.

At the Capitol, Churchill's

11,000 DOCTORS NEEDED

NORTHERN OHIO AREAS HIT BY FLOOD WATERS

Maumee Over Banks at Toledo; Other Scattered Sections of U. S. Affected.

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, May 19—Fed by early May rains, the Maumee river and its tributaries flowed out of their banks today, forcing scores of northwestern Ohio families to seek shelter on land above their low-lying homes.

Seventeen families were evacuated by firemen and policemen as Swan creek surged out of its bank here, and police at Napoleon, 30 miles westward along the Maumee, worked throughout the night to haul families to safety from inundated low sections.

Marshal R. E. Sherwood of nearby Grand Rapids reported residents there is in grave danger as waters from a broken dam threatened to engulf the village.

Toledo police estimated the back waters had flooded 10,000 basements, damaging many heating units.

Streams were out of their banks throughout the Maumee watershed. State highway patrolmen reported 18 roads closed in Putnam, Defiance, Henry, Paulding and Wyandot counties.

Five schools in Van Wert county were closed because of high waters and the Van Wert Times-Bulletin, that city's only daily newspaper, was forced to interrupt its printing yesterday and went to press in Lima, 30 miles to the southeast.

State highways south and west of here, including Routes 23 and 24 were impassable.

Fishermen along the Maumee estimated the river already had risen 13 to 15 feet above its normal level and predicted it would crest sometime today.

The Sandusky river and its feeder streams also were reported overflowing.

Rivers and streams throughout the state were swollen. In southern Ohio, 18-year-old Harold Larsen of Middletown, a Miami university freshman drowned as he attempted to swim in swollen Tallawanda creek.

Thousands Leave Homes in Scattered Areas

By The Associated Press

Thousands of families have left their homes in scattered sections of several midwest and southwest states as rivers and streams inundated sections of some cities and flooded farm and river bottom lands.

At least seven persons were dead. Four drowned in Indiana and three in Missouri. Damage to crops and property was heavy, although no official estimates were given as the floods struck. In-

RAF DESTROYS BIG GERMAN DAM. This is the huge Eder dam in the Ruhr valley which was breached by the Royal Air force in a raid on targets in western Germany. The dam, holding back a reservoir 17 miles long, is one of the largest in Europe. It is on the Eder river near the industrial city of Kassel. Reconnaissance revealed the dam was breached in two places releasing a tremendous torrent of water. A view of the Mohne dam in the Weser valley, which also was bombed, is on Page 9 of today's Star.

FLOOD SPREADS FROM BOMBED POWER DAMS

54,000 Families Reported Homeless In Ruhr River Valley Alone.

By The Associated Press

Allied raiders struck paralyzing new blows at Germany's vital transport system before dawn today as flood waters unleashed by the blasting of two giant dams engulfed more than 54 cities and towns and rolled up a mounting toll of death in the German Ruhr and Weser valleys.

At least 54,000 families were left homeless in the Ruhr alone, it was estimated.

German officials clamped down rigid censorship on details of the havoc, which resulted from the bursting of the Möhne and Eder dams by air-borne British mines on Sunday, and Berlin newspapers clamored for vengeance against the inevitable target for Nazi wrath, the Jews.

Reports reaching Stockholm said the Germans were demanding reprisals against the Jews "proportionate with the very great damage and loss of life caused by the attack," charging that a German-Jewish refugee from the reich had suggested the idea for the attack.

Other developments:

North Africa—Axis losses in Tunisian campaign officially listed at 324,000 troops, including 267,000 captured, 30,000 killed, 27,000 wounded.

Pacific—American forces on alert for Japanese counter stroke; enemy may attempt face-saving thrust to offset apparent defeat in battle of Attu; U. S. troops closing trap on main Japanese positions at Holtz bay.

South Seas—Japanese send 102 planes in four days to combat allied threat to big New Guinea base at Salamaua; allied raiders hit seven Japanese strongholds in New Britain, New Guinea and Admiralty Islands.

Russia—Red armies near Kerch strait beat off stiff German attacks in siege of Novorossiisk. Russians list 1,100 axis planes destroyed from May 2 to 15.

China—Chungking says Japanese "brutally slaughtered" many wounded Chinese soldiers in machinegun attacks on Red Cross boats at Lake Tungting.

Hitler's European fortress shook under the tempestuous allied aerial offensive on both flanks during the past 24 hours.

In the Mediterranean, U. S. Flying Fortresses and other united nations fliers pounded Italy's key anti-invasion outposts at Sicily, Sardinia and Pantelleria in softening-up attacks preluding the expected grand assault on the continent.

Allied headquarters said a "strong force" of fighter-escorted bombers raided the harbor and airfield at Pantelleria, 40 miles off Cap Bon, Tunisia, while the big American Fortresses smashed at Trapani in Sicily.

8th Army Looks Ahead

Simultaneously, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery hinted his famed British 8th army would not rest long on its laurels of the North African campaign, declaring in a message to his troops:

"Let us think of the future * * * good luck and good hunting in the battles yet to come."

While disastrous flood waters swept deeper into Hitler's war industries in the Ruhr, British night raiders blasted a score of rail and water targets on the strained Nazi transport system in western Europe.

German planes returning to London for the third successive night touched off two alarms and

Tunisian Campaign Cost Axis 324,000 Men, 30,000 Dead

Allies Report on Enemy Casualties from Mareth Line to Final Stand; Air Battle Continues.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, May 19—Total German and Italian losses in the Tunisian campaign from the smashing of the Mareth line to the overcoming of the last axis resistance in North Africa were 324,000 men, including an estimated 30,000 killed, 27,000 seriously wounded and 267,000 captured, it was announced officially today.

Simultaneously with the disclosure that nearly a third of a million enemy troops were put out of action in the final stages of the North African campaign came the announcement of the heaviest raid yet on the Italian island of Pantelleria, only 45 miles from Cap Bon in Tunisia, carried out by U. S. air forces.

Flying Fortresses smashed at the same time at the important Sicilian base of Trapani, blowing up a ship in the harbor and covering docks and the railway yard with bomb bursts.

Photographs taken immediately after the assault by the large force of Warhawks, Lightnings, Mitchells and Marauders, which dropped 100 tons of bombs, on Pantelleria, showed hits on six merchant vessels in the harbor, numerous fires from hits on the dock and warehouse areas, extensive bomb hits on the airdrome, five planes smashed on the field, and many small boats bashed in.

The warehouse area was particularly hard hit, with the principal building and three smaller structures destroyed.

Six enemy fighters were shot down by the fortresses and their fighting escort.

Seven allied planes were lost in the operations, it was stated.

(An allied convoy was attacked off the Algerian coast by Italian torpedo planes and three large steamers were hit, the Italian communique said. "One of them having a displacement of 10,000 tons was sunk," it added. The claim was not confirmed by allied sources.

Twenty seven planes were shot down, the Italians claimed.)

Meanwhile, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said the final count showed "well over 200,000" axis troops had been taken prisoner in the Tunisian campaign.

ALCOTT AND ZIEMER ENGAGE IN FISTICUFFS

WLW Fires Alcott After Studio Altercation.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, May 19 — James D. Shouse, vice president and general manager of the Crosley Corp., said today that Carroll D. Alcott, radio commentator, author and for 16 years a newspaperman in Shanghai, had been dismissed as a war commentator on station WLW after which Alcott described us an oral and fistic exchange with Gregor Ziemer, a colleague.

"Mr. Carroll D. Alcott is no longer in the employ of WLW," Shouse said in a prepared statement. "There is no vindictiveness or no rancor. We only feel pity that he has in a few minutes kicked away the potential fruits of many months of hard labor."

Alcott said the exchange occurred Monday night after he concluded his 11 o'clock broadcast with the ad libbed assertion that "next you will hear Gregor Ziemer who sees the world through a spyglass and the encyclopedia Brittanica."

Ziemer followed with his own broadcast, remarking that the Mediterranean area, which he was discussing, had been seen, and not through an encyclopedia.

Alcott said that blows were struck after Ziemer later demanded "what I meant by that crack."

Ziemer could not be reached for comment.

Bomber Campaign Total Now Above Two-Thirds Mark

Another $17,868.75 was added to the Marion county "buy a bomber" campaign by yesterday's sales, making a new total of $219,675.

This is more than 67 per cent of the $325,000 needed by the end of the month to assure the name "The Spirit of Marion County, Ohio" being painted on the nose of a big four-motor bomber to blast the axis.

Drive officials were pleased by yesterday's sales but emphasized that they were only slightly above the average daily sales of more than $12,000 needed to assure success in the drive. They urged workers to make every effort to keep the sales from lagging.

One boost for the drive reported yesterday came from the Rotary club luncheon at noon in Hotel Harding. Sales at the luncheon boosted the Rotary total to $17,675, far above the $10,000 quota. Club members promised other sales before the drive ends.

The city schools today are making part of their contribution to the campaign, with pupils bringing in orders for bonds and delivering stamps, cash and school savings books to provide money for them. These are to be assembled and converted into bonds. Another similar school event is set for next week.

Morral and the surrounding area are expected to make a substantial contribution to the campaign Thursday night at a bond rally in the Morral school. Final arrangements were being made today for the Steam Shovel Co. chorus to provide a musical program at the rally and for bond workers to sell bonds at the rally. Marion participants in the meeting will assemble at the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

In a bulletin to his drive leaders this morning, Chairman Danner pointed out that as of Tuesday the

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 19—American forces throughout the Pacific are braced for a possible Japanese counter stroke which may be attempted to offset their apparently losing battle to hold Attu island.

Military and naval experts here noted as of special significance today that during the first week after the United States attack on the westernmost of the Aleutians May 11 the Japanese fleet stayed safely away from the battle zone and no attempt was made to move in reinforcements.

Since the battle may be lost in a few days, unless bad weather hampers American operations, Tokyo has little time to lose if it intends to follow the pattern of opposition laid down in the South Pacific when United States troops invaded Guadalcanal and northeastern New Guinea.

The battles in those islands were marked by Japanese determination to hold their positions at all costs and as a result they spent ships, planes and men in campaigns which they could have had but the slenderest hope of winning.

The Japanese high command may attempt to get reinforcements into Kiska, which inevitably would precipitate a naval battle with American warships in that area.

Elementary School Music Festival Tonight at 8

Allied Planes Resume Day Attack on Nazis in Europe

By The Associated Press

LONDON, May 19 — The roar of a large formation of planes over the English channel this afternoon signalled continuation of the allied aerial war on the Nazis in Europe after a night of light activity by the RAF.

The strong force swept over the straits in a southeasterly direction toward Boulogne and Cap Gris Nez, riding in the haze.

Flood waters from the rapidly-emptying Mohne and Eder reservoirs in Germany breached in Sunday night's spectacular aerial mining, continued to spread devastation and paralysis in Germany's Ruhr and Weser industrial areas as the offensive entered its eighth day of round-the-clock activity.

(NBC said in a broadcast from London that it was reported there that a mine dropped by the RAF in a large reservoir six miles south of the Mohne dam had started seepage which threatened further damage).

Overnight targets of long-range British fighters and bombers included a score of rail and water objectives on the strained axis transport system the air ministry news service said.

Bostons Beaufighters and Mosquitoes made up the attacking forces for the moonlight forays, aimed at St. Fenger, Port Fraton, Saumur, Angers, Nantes and other points in occupied territory. Barges were shot up near Les Andelys on the Seine.

HOUSE KILLS PENSION BILL

Previous Action Approving Measure Is Rescinded by 67 to 51 Vote.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 19 — The so-called judges pension bill, which almost became law in a brief, stormy career, reposed today in the Ohio legislature's graveyard of unwanted legislation.

The measure, creating a retirement system under which judges could retire on a maximum pension of $3,600 a year, had been passed by the senate and house, and Gov. Bricker had said he would sign it.

Late yesterday, however, the house rescinded its approval and killed the bill by tabling it, 67 to 51.

Several house members asserted they had been misled into voting for the bill last Wednesday; that proponents told them the system would not cost the state or local governments anything, but later the state's actuarial authorities testified it would cost $375,000 to $500,000 in the first year.

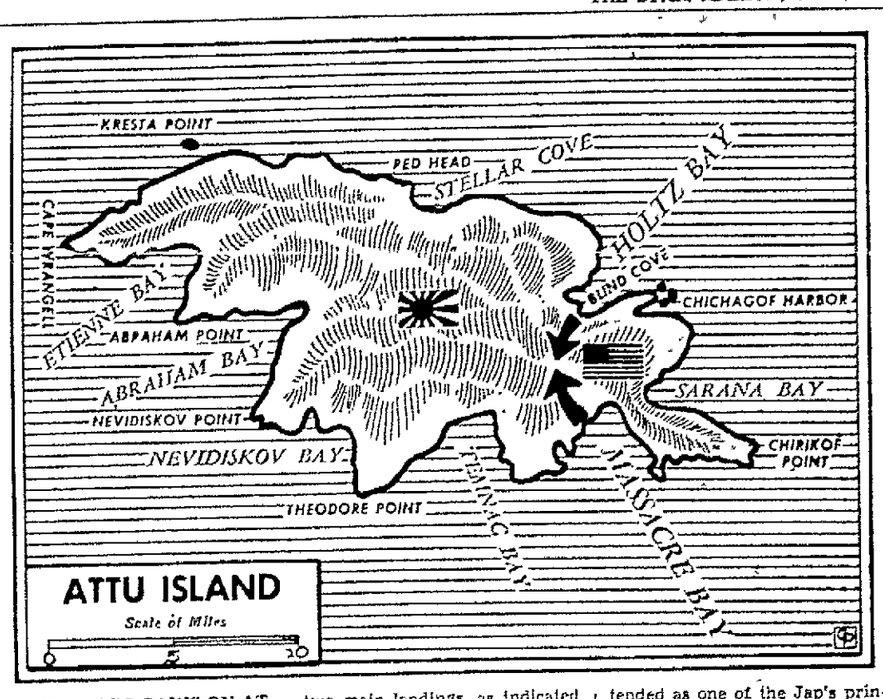
Before taking up the judges bill the house refused to accept A senate-house conference committee's report on a bill allowing probate judges to charge a $1 fee for marriage certificates.

Rep. Michael P. O'Brien (D) of Cleveland told the house that "if it is a racket for the judges to charge up to $5 for the certificates now it still would be a racket to allow them to charge $1.

The house had written into the bill an amendment prohibiting probate judges from charging a fee for the certificates, but it was deleted by the conference committee. Although the senate approved the conference report, a new committee must be appointed to adjust differences over the bill the broad purpose of which is to abolish fees of probate judges and put them on a salary basis.

The senate, meanwhile, adopted a resolution asking the federal government to help arrange for the shipment of food to an estimated 10,000,000 persons reported to be starving in occupied Norway, Holland, France and Belgium.

The resolution said the American and British blockade was about the only obstacle to shipment of at least 50,000 tons of food monthly.



YANKS SCORE GAINS ON ATTU. American forces attacking Attu island are revealed by the Navy department to have made two main landings, as indicated on this map. They also have captured a strongly defended ridge, which apparently was intended as one of the Jap's principal defenses. The Tokyo radio has admitted that the situation is "remarkably serious" for the Japs.

Funds Are Denied Three U. S. Officials

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 19—Two agencies and three government employes are denied federal funds under terms of a minor deficiency appropriation bill passed yesterday by the house and sent to the senate.

One amendment to the $134,000,000 measure would prohibit use of any of the President's emergency funds for either the farm security administration or the national resources planning board, both already deprived of regular appropriations.

A second amendment, adopted on a 317 to 62 roll call vote, would forbid use of any federal money to pay the salaries or expenses of Dr. Goodwin Watson and William E. Dodd Jr., of the federal communications commission, and Robert M. Lovett, government secretary of the Virgin islands. The three had been held unfit for public office by a subcommittee which investigated their alleged affiliation with subversive organizations.

DRAFT OF FRENCHMEN BLOCKED BY WOMEN

Wives Throw Selves Across Rails To Stop Trains.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, May 19 — Laying their bodies across the tracks in front of locomotives, the wives and daughters of Frenchmen drafted for German labor have almost halted the deportations to the reich, Fernand Grenier, former Communist deputy who has joined the Fighting French, declared today.

"The latest Vichy reports admit that between 50 and 80 per cent of the workers conscripted for German factories failed to go," he said.

Grenier gave a full account of activities of French guerrillas in the last three months and produced a sheaf of underground newspapers printed in France to document his remarks.

He said the recently organized council of French resistance, embracing underground organizations, had disseminated an "invasion day" plan to be set in operation the moment the allies strike.

The instructions include these seven points:

Notification that all separate resistance organizations have been unified under a central authority from which orders for action will come.

Mobilization starts the instant the allies land and "arms will be supplied to all at that moment."

All economic and industrial activities throughout France must be paralyzed by a general strike.

Should Vichy military or police forces attempt to hinder allied or resistance operations "they must be killed forthwith or taken prisoner."

Prisons and jails must be opened, releasing political prisoners.

All public buildings, including railway depots and radio stations, must be occupied immediately.

All Vichy officials, regardless of rank and function, must be replaced by known representatives of the resistance parties.

Grenier said the council of resistance represents "no less than 90 per cent" of all able-bodied men and women in France.

"Never before in history has France known such unity," he asserted.

Japs Claim 7 of Their Hospital Ships Attacked

By The Associated Press

LONDON, May 19—A Japanese headquarters announcement, broadcast by Tokyo as an apparent answer to allied protests against sinking of the Australian hospital ship Centaur, claimed today seven Japanese hospital ships had been attacked nine times early this year.

The broadcast, heard by The Associated Press, said the hospital ships were targets of American aircraft or submarines between the first of the year and end of April.

(The Japanese claims were completely lacking in supporting evidence.)

Construction Co. of Upper Sandusky, $16,207; Hancock, Hardin and Wyandot—resurfacing sections of Upper Sandusky-Tiffin road, Upper Sandusky-Bellevue road, Marion-Kenton road, Marysville-Kenton road, Bellefontaine-Kenton road, Lima-Bellefontaine road, Delphos-Upper Sandusky road, U. ASHLEY SENIOR FAIR FOR 1943 DROPPED

Board Cites Results of Survey Among Farmers of Area.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, May 19 — The Ashley senior fair, a Delaware county institution for 30 years, became a war casualty yesterday when fair board officials announced the senior exposition would be cancelled this year but the junior fair would continue at a date later than previously planned.

The Ohio Fair Board Managers Association had recently announced through The Associated Press that the Ashley fair, scheduled for July 14-17, would again open the Ohio fair season.

Harry Wigton, fair secretary said the decision to cancel the senior fair was approved by 12 members of the 15-member board in a recent meeting. Four factors contributing cancellation were announced by the board. They are: (1) a survey of exhibitors indicated that few of them, now combating labor shortages, bad weather and transportation difficulties, would be able to show at the exposition, (2) bad weather and the late planting season, combined with labor and transportation difficulties, was bound to reduce fair attendance, (3) fewer farm youths, badly needed for farm work, would show in a July junior fair and (4) shortage of eating and housing facilities in Ashley to accommodate those who arrive a week or two before the opening of the fair.

Present tentative plans, Wigton said, call for an enlarged junior fair to be held sometime in October after start of school. The Ashley junior fair was started 19 years ago and is popularly recognized as the first junior exposition in the United States. Cancellation of the Ashley fair leaves Delaware county with one fair—the annual Delaware county fair.

In announcing the board's decisions, Secretary Wigton emphasized that the action was not a permanent cancellation but only for as long as conditions unfavorable to the holding of the fair exist.

ROTARIANS OVER TOP IN BOND PURCHASES

$7,675 Above Quota in First Report.

The Marion Rotary club went far over the top of its quota in the Marion county "buy a bomber" campaign with its first report of subscriptions made at the club's weekly meeting at Hotel Harding Tuesday.

The total announced Tuesday was $17,675. The club's quota was set at $10,000. Subscriptions of the members were taken during Tuesday's meeting and others will be received at next week's session, assuring additional excess over the quota.

For entertainment following the Tuesday luncheon two motion pictures were shown, one depicting the manufacture of a pursuing plane from beginning to end of the factory operations and the other presenting views of planes in battle and other war scenes in the air and on land and sea. The films were shown by A. E. Orcutt, and Cecil W. Gosler.

H. J. Burgos of New York City was a guest of the club.

Roosevelt Overwhelming '44 Choice of Democrats

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., May 19.—While the race for the Republican presidential nomination gives evidence of being a sharp and lively contest, with no one candidate favored by a clear majority of the rank and file at the present time, the situation within the Democratic party is remarkably different.

No important division of sentiment exists at present among the rank and file of Democrats. President Roosevelt is the choice of the overwhelming majority.

Roosevelt

A survey discloses that the vote of preference for Mr. Roosevelt is approximately four times larger than the combined vote for six other men who have been discussed as possible Democratic candidates.

Each Democratic voter interviewed in the survey from coast-to-coast was handed a list of seven men including the President who have been talked about in the press and in political circles as possible Democratic standard-bearers for 1944. Voters were then asked:

"Which ONE of these men would you prefer as the Democratic candidate for President next year?"

The results are:

Roosevelt	70%
Wallace	8
Farley	5
McNutt	4
Douglas	2
Byrnes	1
Winant	1

The contrast between the situation in the Democratic party and that in the G. O. P. can be seen from the vote of the Republican rank and file in a survey reported earlier this week. The present preferences of these voters were found to be as follows:

Henry Wallace

Choices of G. O. P. Voters.

Dewey	36%
Willkie	28
MacArthur	17
Bricker	8
Stassen	7
Saltonstall	1
Warren	1

Comparable To 1940.

The one-sided nature of the Democratic vote makes the present situation closely comparable to that which existed prior to the 1940 Democratic nominating convention.

In an Institute survey conducted in November, 1939—eight months before the 1940 convention—President Roosevelt was the choice of 83 per cent of all Democratic voters polled. The next most popular candidate was John N. Garner, with 8 per cent. President Roosevelt held a commanding lead and in fact gained in popular support in his party as convention time neared. A survey reported June 30, 1940, two weeks before the convention, found him the choice of 92 per cent.

James A. Farley

On the Republican side of the 1940 campaign, Thomas E. Dewey took the popular lead early in 1939 and continued to be the top choice of Republicans with opinions until the invasion of France in the early summer of 1940, when Wendell Willkie forged into first place as the choice of the rank and file and, later, of the convention.

OPA Lifts Gas Cards of Two Motorists

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 19—Two of three men called before an OPA commissioner here yesterday on charges of using rationed gasoline for lottery activities, had their ration books lifted for long periods while decision was reserved in the third case.

Hardest hit was Frank Joy. His book was lifted until Dec. 31, 1944. John Legree had his book lifted for six months.

Ben Hilson faced three charges, using gasoline for lottery activities when his book was issued to him as a musician, not having a "B" sticker on his car and having A, T and C coupons in his possession.

Two Church Groups Hold Joint Meetings

The Loyal Ruth Circle and the Woman's Missionary society held a joint meeting at Calvary Evangelical church Thursday night. The theme centered around the thought of the Christian home.

Plans were made for entertaining the state W.M.S. convention at Calvary Church June 17-20. Plans also were made to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the local society on June 10 with every member present and a special anniversary offering. Mrs. H. O. Rueger and Mrs. H. J. Klinefelter were elected to represent the society at the convention. Miss Medella Seiter and Mrs. Ed Sprow were elected alternates.

The program was presented by the Loyal Ruth Circle. John Cheney accompanied by Mrs. J. L. Hoover, gave two whistling solos. Devotions were in charge of Miss Elizabeth Zachman, two musical readings were given by Mrs. Marvin Lewis, Miss Doris Brading gave a talk on Stewardship and current missionary events were presented by Miss Medella Seiter. Rev. O. D. Myers of the Salem Evangelical church, brought some thoughts on the Christian home. The meeting was closed with prayer. A social hour was enjoyed following the program.

Even the Legislature Goes on Fast Time

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 19—There was restrained snickering today as the Ohio legislature readjusted its business to the hour-faster eastern war time.

The suppressed laughter came from members who recalled the legislature instituted the "slow" central war time as the state's official time on Feb. 21, and that the law has not been repealed.

The legislative clocks will continue to register slow time, but the house and senate will convene at 1:30 p. m., eastern war time. They have been convening at 1:30 state time.

The change is being made "in view of the confusion and conflict in time," explained Frank E. Whittemore, senate president protem.

This capital city returned to fast time last Sunday, leaving only one major city—Dayton—on the slow time fixed by the legislature. And Dayton has indicated it will move to fast time next Sunday.

Exploratory Operation

IT HAS been repeated so often in official statements that the United Nations conference on food problems is exploratory, not conclusive, that no one has any excuse for missing the point.

Plainly, the United States government, which is playing host to the conference, is trying to guard against disappointment. It does not want the conference criticized for failure to get somewhere when it never aimed to get anywhere.

Under the circumstances, this probably is wise. A food conference that tried to get anywhere in the midst of war would be doomed to failure anyway. If the meeting at Hot Springs can discover in the next fortnight what are the common problems that the United States can try to solve, it will have justified itself.

Unfortunately, it has been placed under the handicap of secrecy, which means that its deliberations will be subject to rumors and misunderstandings. The press, which at first was to have been barred entirely, has succeeded in gaining limited access to the conference. It is doubtful, however, if enough information about the proceedings will be made available to dispel the suspicion properly directed at all secret meetings. While the delegates are learning about the world's food problems, it is likely our own government officials may learn something about a problem that always has plagued them—how to bear up bravely under public scrutiny of their actions.

A Twenty-Second Front

ACCELERATED rate and volume of the aerial bombardment of key points in Germany's continental fortress will make clearer day by day something that has been the source of much misunderstanding.

In effort, in cost and certainly in damage wrought, the aerial bombardments are not the equivalent of just one more front. Instead of a second front, it is as though the United Nations had a twenty-second front.

Ultimately, the bombardments, modern counterparts of the artillery barrages that preceded offensives in World War I, will be followed up by land invasions of the continent. Again, it seems likely that instead of one more front being opened a number of points will be assailed simultaneously. Hitler will have to deal with attacks everywhere that he is subject to attack from the air, which is to say all the way from Narvik to the islands of the Aegean sea. The second front clamorers of recent memory were too modest.

Coordinator for Sport

APPARENTLY there is a buildup in Washington and New York for a coordinator of sports. The object of this national dignitary would be to keep sports from interfering with the war, which is the opposite of the object of many sports promoters.

However, one thing needs to be cleared up before even a national coordinator of sports would have a sporting chance. The word needs to be defined. Unless it is defined—clearly—the inevitable effect of national coordination would be to put the finger on a lot of inconsequential enterprises with no friends in court and give a clean bill of health to other enterprises able to employ special pleaders.

For instance, if basketball, a game played mostly by high schools boys and amateurs for fun happened to get crowded into a corner while horse racing, a business engaged in by promoters and financed by organized gambling, happened to be smiled on with favor, Washington would have to appoint one of its famous super-coordinators to coordinate its coordinator.

Sword of Damocles

FOR two years the house of representatives, aided and abetted by the senate, has held a sword of Damocles over organized labor—the threat to enact restrictive legislation if labor went too far.

The tense situation in the coal industry and the growing tendency of labor elsewhere to threaten and call strikes must be held responsible for the house military affairs committee's unanimous approval of a proposal that would hobble labor organizations with more restrictions than their lawyers could untangle in a generation. The committee's action was taken on the excuse of considering a senate bill which merely would have made it a crime to instigate a strike in war plants seized by the government.

This happens to be the point at which legislative restrictions on labor unions always have stopped before—approval by one house of congress. The sword of Damocles hangs there, slowly swaying, held by a thread. The thread, at this point, is in the custody of John L. Lewis. If he wants to sever it, the blame will be on him.

Did You Know

Manufacture of some 2,200 metal items has been halted for the duration.

Women's organizations in England assist in the collection of herbs for medical purposes.

More than 1,000 20-millimeter shells are made every minute in American munitions plants.

In Rhode Island the agricultural extension service dramatizes its nutrition program through a traveling puppet show, which is popular with children.

News Behind the News

Hitler Believed Holding Many Planes To Resist Invasion Effort.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 19—Some radio commentators have been reporting the intensified Anglo-American bombing of western Europe as a "prelude to invasion," causing people to run to the front door for their paper each day to see if it has started.

The air and press simultaneously have been piled, naturally enough, with speculation suggesting a direct immediate drive through Holland into the heart of Germany, or a flanking invasion through Italy or Norway, or both simultaneously.

It all depends on one factor—planes.

If Hitler has a formidable air force available in western Europe, an invasion cannot be successfully attempted until that air force is beaten. The same factor applies everywhere. We can go wherever we can get superiority in the air—and nowhere else.

The latest authentic reports suggest Hitler has about 6,500 actual fighting planes, a still formidable number. About one-third of them (something over 2,000 planes) are supposed to be on the Russian front and will have to remain there for the forthcoming drives, possibly against Moscow and Leningrad.

Hitler's Plane Production

The Russians claim to have destroyed 1,300 planes in the last two weeks. If they did, they have decimated Nazi air power on their front, but Russian reports are always so enthusiastic that none of our military decisions are likely to be based on what Stalin gives out in his newspapers.

Hitler's production, according to the most trustworthy available data, is now running about 1,200 to 1,600 planes a month, just about half of his peak of plane production (2,500 a month) reached in the fall of 1941 and continuing for some months thereafter. His replacements, therefore, are coming slowly and painfully, but not inconsiderably.

None are being wasted by the worried Fuehrer against us on the southern front. The air opposition we have run into in Sicily, the southern part of Italy, and Sardinia has been very weak.

Resistance in Italy

While rumors have appeared that the Nazis have withdrawn ground forces back behind the Alps, the latest checks indicate Hitler has not had many troops in Italy. His controls there lately have been maintained mostly by Gestapo leaders and industrial plant managers. He would be in a desperate condition, indeed, if he intended to let us get Italy without fighting and acquire air bases there with which to bomb all Germany.

Put all these authentic reports of the air situation together and you must conclude we already have air superiority over southern Italy, Sicily and Sardinia, but will have a fight on our hands yet to acquire it over Holland, Belgium or France.

Invasion of Italy, therefore, seems feasible, the northwest European coast line still difficult. Norway would be much easier.

These current intensified bombings of Germany are therefore only long distance preludes to invasion. Heavy bombers, it is true, are used as artillery in a prelude to attack.

Bombing Time Table

Two months before Tunisia collapsed, our bombers plastered Naples and the Sicilian ports, destroying shipping, and, then, for the final push, drew in to hammer the German fighting line in North Africa. The long-range bombing comes first, then short range.

The Anglo-American long range bombing attacks on Germany must first conclude this current phase of blasting railroad communications far back from the coast, engaging the Luftwaffe daily, knocking out whatever combat planes they can and destroying the German centers of airplane production.

Then it can hammer the fortifications on the coast as an immediate prelude to a landing. When you hear of German batteries along the coast catching this rain of explosives, you will know invasion is nigh.

Martinique Riddle

Former French Premier Analyzes Admiral Robert's Role.

Camille Chautemps was a member of 18 French governments, four times as premier. He was vice-premier when the Germans occupied France but managed to reach America. He now lives in Washington—as he says, "out of politics." This is his assessment of the touchy question of Martinique and its governor, Admiral Robert.

By CAMILLE CHAUTEMPS
Written for Associated Press

IF the times were not so tragic, a funny story could be written about Admiral Georges Robert, colonial governor of Martinique. He is forcing personal dictatorship upon the inhabitants, dealing on equal terms with the mightiest power, and not hesitating to defy the entire world.

But the most beautiful dreams have an end, and La Fontaine taught us that a frog who believed he could become as big as an ox burst and died.

C. Chautemps

Admiral Robert's status is the more curious because this stubborn supporter of Vichy got his commission from the French democratic government in 1939. If government, contrary to normal practice, preferred an admiral to a civil governor, it was precisely so that this military man would be ready to fight the enemy in accord with our Allies—not remain neutral.

It is true there has been an armistice. I have been told that Admiral Robert hesitated between Marshal Petain and General De Gaulle—which would be to his credit. Having finally declared himself for Petain, he had to keep a position of neutrality. The American government asked nothing else from him at the time.

Became 'Dictator'

When the attitude of Vichy became openly pro-German, the United States needed some guarantees. It called upon Admiral Robert for them and treated him with great regard. So began his career as a dictator. He became accustomed to have his policy for "his" territories.

A day came when the French situation was altered. The Americans and the British brought the war to French soil, and the liberation of France began. The Germans invaded all of metropolitan France, the armistice was broken and destroyed. Everywhere it was again, and every Frenchman made up his mind to fight.

All alone in the world, Admiral Robert remains neutral in his small kingdom. He will not fight for France, because he did not receive the order to do it from Marshal Petain, to whom he took an oath of fidelity.

It would be in vain to tell him that Marhal Petain is a prisoner, that Admiral Darlan, Robert's direct chief, had taken command of the resistance, that all French generals and admirals had taken their place behind General Giraud, finally that powerful America will not tolerate in front of its door, so strange a situation.

Likes 'Play Acting'

What explanation can we give for this situation? Admiral Robert's background brings us no special light. His career has been happy, but common. Except for his participation in economic negotiations in London, he served in the navy, progressing normally through the ranks. His comrades describe him as a "fine-speaking man," who perhaps has been befuddled by his own oratory and has accustomed himself "to play acting."

Does he feel an obstinate and blunt fidelity toward that external form of discipline in which some military men put their conception of honor? It is not impossible, but it seems difficult to believe that such feelings could be sufficient to explain his psychology. One is obliged to think that more personal and practical considerations also have their part in it.

There is first the feeling of fear which the Admiral expressed in a recent letter to a newspaperman. He has heard suggestions that men who have helped the Allies will be eliminated when their usefulness is over, and he fears the same destiny for himself if he agrees to demands made on him.

Apparently he has an illusion that for the duration he can keep an advantageous position to which he has become accustomed and through which he hopes to gain a benefit for himself in the minds of Frenchmen.

Finally, does he have a more naive illusion, reflected from certain Vichy men, that destiny is not yet settled and Germany can perhaps win the war? Should this thought be in his mind, I think the tremendous victory of the Allied armies in Bizerte and Tunis would enlighten his judgment.

Whatever his motives may be, his attitude shows a stunning blindness. It is clear that he can hope for nothing good from a dissidence which is obviously against the interest of France and the unanimous accord of all other Frenchmen for resistance.

Farm Subsidy Headaches

OPA Proceeding Cautiously; Farm Bloc Doesn't Like Plan.

By JOHN GROVER

WASHINGTON, May 19—The office of price administration, in subsidizing processors of meat, butter and coffee, is like the boy wading hesitantly into cold water. It's waiting for reaction before taking another step.

Behind the subsidies is a tangled political situation, which could blow up in the faces of the harried OPA and department of agriculture.

Subsidies are anathema to farm bloc members. What they want is higher farm prices, and no nonsense about subsidies, which can be taken away. It's their contention that labor has been given the gravy and the farmers haven't got enough to spot a vest.

To bolster this contention they say that industrial labor — currently moaning about high food prices—is actually paying a smaller fraction of its income for food than at any time in recent history.

In other words, the farm bloc admits that farm prices have been boosted by the war, but says they haven't zoomed nearly so fast as wages. Cold turkey figures prepared by the bureau of agriculture Economics bear out their argument.

When subsidies were brought out and dusted off a while back as a solution to spiraling prices, congress slapped the subsidy idea down in short order. Farm members wanted a copper-riveted formula that would raise farm prices to equality with industrial wage increases, which can be used for a yardstick after the war, too. They fear the subsidy idea would get the old heave-ho once the armistic is signed.

Farmer Gets Nicked

Another squawk in congress against subsidies alleges that actually the farmer doesn't get all the apparent subisdy. Like everybody else in the country who pays federal taxes, he's nicked for part of it.

There's another school of thought that holds subsidies contribute to the very inflation they seek to prevent. Anything that raises the national debt, they say, contributes to inflation, and there's no doubt that subsidies are expensive.

The OPA's first venture into subsidies is calculated to cost $300,000,000 to $400,000,000, and that's peanuts compared to the cost if subsidization becomes general.

The OPA subsidy program is the second federal venture into such payments. The Commodity Credit Corporation is already active in the field. The ceiling price on soybeans for instance, is $1.65, but CCC is guaranteeing $1.80 for this year's crop. The same deal is being worked in cheese, where the processor is held to a ceiling sale price, but gets a subsidy so he can pay higher milk prices.

The anti-subsidy farm bloc is looking on CCC with a jaundiced and displeased eye. It's one of the agencies limited to a definite period of existence. It's "time" expires with the fiscal year June 31, and unless congress extends its time, it's a dead dodo.

Farm Bloc Alert

Some more radical members of the farm bloc may press for its abolition, but it's the general consensus that it will get "life" with a clause written into the new extension forbidding dabbling in subsidies.

It is noteworthy that OPA subsidies are to be paid to the processors, rather than to the farmers direct. It would have been waving a red rag at the farm bloc bull to inaugurate direct subsidies to the grower. This way, the processor can pay higher prices to the farmer, and still exist under his ceiling prices.

The farm bloc isn't saying much now. Don't think for a minute that it hasn't got its eyes peeled, though. What it's watching is the coal mine wage negotiations, or any other wage negotiations designed to hike wages. If they are permitted to rise, under whatever face-saving formula, veteran congressional observers say the farm bloc will sail over the fence and come down snorting fire.

If that happens, the vetoed Bankhead bill is held a cinch to be revived. That bill would exclude benefit payments in figuring parity prices. Roosevelt said it was inflationary. The "roll back" of food prices through subsidies will come in for bludgeoning, along with a frontal attack on OPA, CCC and other agencies concerned with prices, if the temper of the farm bloc has been correctly gauged.

"You've either got to pay me more money, boss, or find some way to get around this meat shortage!"

Congressman Introduces Bill To Make War Writers of Press Eligible for Heroes' Medals.

By DAMON RUNYON

EDITOR & PUBLISHER, Bible of the newspaper publishing business, reports in a recent issue that Rep. Charles S. Dewey of Illinois has introduced a bill in congress providing that a medal be given any war correspondent who is wounded or physically disabled while serving with the United States forces.

Or who, the bill reads, "distinguishes himself by conspicuous service involving actual combat with an enemy of the United States." This measures had escaped my notice up to the moment I reading it in Editor & Publisher, but I am sure it will meet with approval of the newspaper profession, the general public and perhaps even the statesmen in Washington.

Under the conditions set forth, a medal is fine enough to give the men who gather the news at the battle front. An offhand award of this nature means much to the recipient. It is an emblem of merit. I do not hold with the practice of some of our army fellows of wearing so many campaign bars on their chests that they are practically walking lithographs, but a decoration is something entirely different.

I do not understand how the language of Rep. Dewey's bill about a correspondent distinguishing himself by service involving actual combat with an enemy can be made to jibe with the rules of warfare that rate a correspondent a non-combatant, but I suppose the gentleman had in mind the newspapermen who go on bombing raids and on naval vessels.

Their conduct on such occasions can be conspicuously distinguished, but scarcely their combat service, unless they break the rules.

HOWEVER, this is a trifling detail. It is a cinch the enemy is not going to pause in taking aim to segregate the correspondents from the other men in American uniforms. I think it equally a cinch that in a bear fight, if the correspondent saw he could render assistance to our side by grabbing a betsy and pitching in, he would forget the rules. In fact, I am told some have.

But even if the proposed award is established, it does not change the half-civilian, half-military status of the correspondents. I still believe they should be given commissions of the grade of captain or major and of a special nature that would permit them to function as freely as they do now (which is not saying much) in their newspaper duties.

As the thing stands at present, the correspondent is neither fish nor fowl in a military sense. He wears a uniform that gives him the general aspect of an officer, but he is not an officer. He is not an enlisted man. Yet he is by no means a completely free agent when he is with the soldiers. He is subject to certain military rules and discipline, so he should have definite military status, as some correspondents with the Australian soldiers now enjoy.

I SUPPOSE the solution in future wars will be something on the order of the combat-correspondent of the marine corps, who is a regular enlisted man. However, I imagine the objection to this tye of correspondent from the newspapers will be the possible lack of individuality and writing ability that editors fancy in war correspondents and which cannot be manufactured just by military training.

It would scarcely be feasible to enlist some because of age limitations and also because they might not come up to the physical requirements of the service. It is my guess that very few of the correspondents now in the field are military eligibles. In fact, many of them have been rejected. I believe Dick Tregaskis, who is young, but taller than a telegraph pole, was turned down because of his height.

Three war correspondents have been killed in this war and 13 disabled, while 30 are missing—dead or captured. This record certainly entitles the newspaper corps to some official recognition. Gen. MacArthur awarded a correspondent in the South Pacific a decoration, but I have heard of no others from official sources. What is more, there is no official authority even for correspondents wearing the campaign bars of their other wars, unless they were actually in the service.

Mr. Ickes, the well known book writer and coal mine runner, has always been a favorite character of mine. For one thing, Honest Harold comes from the Honest Abe country. Even the folks that don't like him (I hear there are many of same, and he don't care), have to admit he does a right smart job.

He's got more duties now than a grocery store manager. He's Secy. of the Interior on account he knows how to get at the inside of things.

So it's no surprise to me he was called on to dig into the coal situation. He's pretty handy with the spade, which he never refers to by some other name.

There's a man that don't do things half way, especially when it comes to blessing people out. If you cross him, he'll let you names you'll have to look up. I want understood that this squib is a eulogy.

That word curmudgeon which he calls himself sent thousands of people to the dictionary. After reading what it meant, they come away realizing that Harold is pretty fair all around.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

BOTH SIDES

Editor of The Star: Let us see both sides of the dog question. Let us never forget to "Do unto others as we wish to be done by," and then there'll be no trouble.

I know an old lady 70 years old or older who spades up garden for lettuce, onions, radishes, tomatoes and potatoes, and is crippled at that, and on a pension, and had to buy fence and posts to keep neighbors' dogs out.

I know another party that had to put up a fence to keep dogs out of the garden.

If I wanted to keep a dog I'd put up a fence and not expect my neighbors to furnish a play ground for my pets, nor put up a fence.

Victory gardens and flowers never bite anyone. Flowers cheer the well and the sick. Victory gardens feed the hungry, the dogs as well as human beings.

Many and many a dog has more to eat and better than many humans, and warmer, better places to sleep.

When we lived in the country we had 2 dogs and several cats. The cats stayed at the barn. We did not care to go to the expense to put up a fence here in town and so found good home in the country for the two dogs.

If everybody preferred to keep and feed a dog rather than raise a victory garden, we would lose the war, and dogs, civilians and soldiers would go hungry. Can any American condemn anyone for raising a Victory garden?

Let the people have their Victory gardens if they keep them on their own ground. Let the dog owner have his dogs if he will keep them on his own ground.

I do not want to buy ground, nor rent ground for some one else's pets or pleasures. I would rather have a kittie or two around than mice or rats, but will not keep a cat in town as I could not keep it on my lot.

I have more joy and peace when I "Do unto others as I wish to be done by."

AGAINST HATRED

Editor of The Star: I have been reading the letters which have appeared in The Star, for and against dogs, "and cats," and find it very disgusting to think that any one who claims to be civilized could be so heartless as to want to pen up the animals that are doing the most good. I wonder if the ones who are so much against dogs have ever had rats and field mice in the house? There is only one good way of keeping them out and that is the faithful dog which kills them before they get a chance to get to the home. Did you ever see a dog come in the yard with his eyes all swollen and his body badly scratched up? I have and I've also seen how it happened. By fighting a rat which could do the same thing to your children in case it was cornered in a room with them.

Are our councilmen so narrow minded that they are going to listen to the tales of woe of some crab who hates dogs rather than use a little common sense and realize that the dog is one of man's best animal friends if treated right?

I would like to tell the brainstormer who hates cats a few things. Why be so sacriligious as to use phrases from the Bible to tell about dogs and then dare to say you hate cats? I am not very well acquainted with the Bible but if my memory serves me right there is something in there which says you should hold no hatred for anything.

Please excuse me if I have become too bold in this letter but when I find people so narrow-minded that they can only see their side of a problem I feel that I have a right to express my opinion and try to open their eyes to the other side.

Secret Service Acts To Check Theft of Checks

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., May 19—Reports that government checks, including many service dependency allotment checks are being stolen from porches, mail boxes, and then forged, have prompted the U. S. Secret Service to intensify a nationwide educational program on this subject.

Precautions urged by secret service, made public by the regional office of war information here, include the following:

1. Be sure some member of the family is at home when the checks are due to be delivered.

2. All mail boxes should be equipped with a lock, and the individual's name should be printed clearly on the outside of the box.

3. Checks should not be indorsed until you are in the presence of the person you will ask to cash it.

4. Checks should be cashed in the same place each month, thus making identification easier.

To persons and business houses asked to cash government checks, secret service asks that they:

1. Insist that the person presenting a government check properly identify himself as the person entitled to the check.

2. Insist that all checks be indorsed in their presence.

3. Require all checks be initialed by the employes who pay out the money for them, or who approve such payment.

If your trouble is what mine was, why not try KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN? It's made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek and tastes swell.

Miss Sergeant York

Third Cousin of World War I Hero Now WAAC Topkick.

FIRST SGT. JENNIE YORK (right) and her WAACs.

By ROBERT GEIGER
Associated Press Writer

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—Is it possible to bark in soprano? Just listen:

"Dress up that line, there. It's as crooked as a dog's hind leg."

"Button up the overcoats, girls. It's cold as kraut, this morn."

It's First Sgt. Jennie York, third cousin of the famed Sgt. Alvin York of World War No. 1, barking in the best first sergeant manner. That's why her company of WAACs at Ft. Francis E. Warren has won the admiration of even the tough-skinned sergeants of World War I, now stationed at the fort.

It is their marching and their drilling that draws the greatest praise from the army men. When they come parading down the drill field the soldiers stop and look. Every foot is in time every arm swings with the proper rhythm. Flanking movements are flawless.

Know How To Drill

"Precision drilling," say the men, watching critically.

"If I had a company of rookies that could drill as well as Sgt. York's WAACs I'd be tickled to death," says veteran First Sgt. Walter G. Schacht, scratching his head perplexedly. "It beats me how she does it."

"They're 100 per cent soldiers," adds Master Sgt. Joseph G. Ganz, another veteran of the first World War. "The WAACs can put some of the trousered troops to shame."

First Sgt. Jennie York is black-haired, slender and of the best military department while on the drill field. Off duty, her friends say she has a pleasant, "lively" personality. Her WAACs are assigned to the special services of Fort Warren.

Sergeant York's home is at Clinton, Tenn., only 125 miles from Pall Mall where her Third Cousin Alvin, the "one man army" of World War I, resides.

Wants to Get Overseas

"Was it your ambition to become a first sergeant and establish a family tradition when you joined the WAACs, sergeant?"?

"No," says Sergeant York. "I want to get overseas and I don't care what kind of rating I have as long as I get there. "It's like pulling teeth to get over."

Already she's added to the proverbially picturesque speech of top sergeants. On her first day she minted a classic phrase.

Just off the train, the girls were lined up before an admiring group of soldiers and civilians. Naturally they were a bit fidgety after their long ride and they also were curious to see their new surroundings.

"Nobody told you to wiggle yet!" barked Sergeant York as some of the girls squirmed.

Commando Troops Will Lead Way As Invasion Comes

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

While we are waiting anxiously to learn whether the allied high command may find it feasible to undertake the essential invasion of France across the English channel this summer, it's good to know that there is in Britain a big force of highly trained, hard-as-nails specialists ready to act as the spear-head of that great adventure, if and when it comes.

This outfit is known as the combined operations command and comprises men from all three fighting services—Army, Navy and air. That branch probably best known to the public is the famous commando outfit of men as tough as they make 'em. The commandos are the Army end of combined operations.

These experts will be as vital to invasion as the scalpel is in surgery. The landing in France is likely to be the most difficult and the most costly in lives and equipment of anything of the kind in history.

Bridge-Head First

Success will depend on the establishment of a bridge-head on the coast in the face of terrific enemy opposition—a bloody business. That initial landing to open the way for the regular Army can not be a haphazard affair.

You can't just fling any ordinary contingent up on the beach and expect it to stick or even survive. The seizing and holding of that all-important bridge-head will be a job for great specialists—and they are ready.

How many of these chaps are there? Well, that's a secret. Apart from Britain, of course, America also is producing commandos, and other allied troops are passing through the combined operations command. So far as concerns the British force it's permissible to answer in some such general terms as I heard yesterday while chatting with Hilary St. George Saunders, the distinguished Briton who probably knows more about them than any other man.

Saunders—a jovial and very live individual—is their official historian and has just published the story of the commandos under the title of "Combined Operations." He says there are "many thousands," and since he is exceedingly careful in his language we know he is talking about a lot of men.

The main business of combined operations—or let's just call them commandos—is amphibious warfare. That means invasions, small or big, and naturally calls for intensive schooling in assault landings.

The commandos are purely shock troops. Their job is to storm their way ashore and establish that bridge-head, which they hold until the regulars can be landed and take over, but they aren't for protracted holding operations.

Must Know War Job

It follows that the commando must be a jack of all war trades. He must be not only a soldier but a bit of a sailor and must know enough about aerial affairs so he can operate with understanding. Most of all he must have guts and stamina. We don't need to go into that here, for you all have read of the really fierce preparation these men endure.

The commandos have been training for a long time, and have been raiding the continental coast from Norway to Spain. These raids have been partly to gain information and wage a war of nerves against the Boche, and partly to find out by trail and error how to make these attacks.

Biggest of all the raids was the Dieppe affair which turned out to be so costly in lives. However, combined operations in this harsh adventure learned invaluable lessons which will stand them in good stead in the hard days to come.

When it comes to real invasion the first objective must be a port for the use of the following transport. You don't have to worry about that on a raid, for you expect to go back home. But with all-out invasion you're going to stay ashore—you hope—and there must be a place for the troops and supplies to be put ashore.

Unity is the by-word of combined operations. All branches plan together for any expedition and carry out their task in closest cooperation. That word "unity," by the way, is pretty nearly synonymous with victory. It's what won Tunisia, and it's what will win the war.

PRISON FOR NUMBERS OPERATORS APPROVED

Senate Committee Recommends Passage of Bill.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 19—Legislation providing prison sentences for agents and operators of the "numbers" or "policy" gambling racket was recommended for passage by the Ohio senate's judiciary committee last night.

The bill, already approved by the house, was reported out after the committee made amendments designed to protect bingo games conducted for charitable or religious purposes and to exempt numbers players from the measure's provisions.

The proposed law would require courts to impose a minimum fine of $500 and a year's prison sentence on numbers promoters convicted a second time. Numbers agents or "writers" would be subject to a minimum fine of $500 on a second conviction.

Prison terms up to three years could be given to agents, while the operators would be sent to the penitentiary for as long as seven years.

The committee approved the bill, 6 to 1, after Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Herbert said his office found severe penalties were needed to eradicate the racket. The dissenting vote was cast by Senator John A. Corlett (R) of Cleveland.

The most severe penalty in the present law is a $500 fine and a six-month jail sentence. Witnesses told the committee Toledo and Youngstown were prosecuting numbers violators under a city ordinance with penalties less severe than the state law.

Speakers were Mrs. E. F. Andree of Wilmington, conference corresponding secretary and Miss Marguerite Bugby, a returned Missionary from India. A playlet depicting the migrant work of the society was given by Wesley church of Lima.

Mrs. Carl Hale of Upper Sandusky, president, presided for the morning session and Mrs. C. E. Aiken of Marion, vice president was in charge of the afternoon session. Approximately 350 members and guests attended the sessions and places were marked for 250 at a dinner.

KENTON RESIDENT REPORTED MISSING

May Be Man Believed Drowned in Scioto River.

By The Associated Press

KENTON, O., May 19—Reports that John Joseph Cavin, 28, son of Mrs. Christina Cavin, is missing from home today, sent police on an investigation of the possibility that he may be the man who drowned in the muddy, rain-swollen waters of the Scioto river here yesterday.

Cavin, his mother reported, had been missing from home since about 10 a. m. Monday. It was shortly after 10:35 a. m. when Leonard Cosgrove, flagman on the northbound New York Central passenger train, reported that he saw a man struggling in the river.

When patrol of both banks failed to reveal the lodged body of the man, police obtained a boat and rowed up and down the stream in the hope that the body may have stayed afloat. If today's search is fruitless, there is no hope of finding the body until the stream subsides, officials declared.

The possibility that Cavin may be the victim was seen when Mrs. Cavin said her son is crippled in his left leg and arm. He had been in ill health and, when he left home yesterday morning, removed his watch and placed it on a table, police were told. He was dressed in dark clothes and wore a cap.

Vernon Heights Play Postponed To Tuesday

Annual ninth grade play at Vernon Heights Junior High school, originally scheduled for Thursday afternoon and Friday night of this week, has been postponed to next Tuesday at 4 p. m. and 8 p. m., Principal Cecil Gabler announced today. The change was made because of the death yesterday of R. A. Garvin, former principal of the school.

TWO BOYS ARRESTED HERE FOR ROBBERY

Exonerated of Marion Theft, They Confess One in Tiffin.

Two 15-year-old boys of Detroit, Mich., were found innocent of breaking and entering into the Moose club on South State street this morning after they were arrested for investigation by city police on Delaware avenue shortly after 4:30 this morning.

However, they admitted to breaking and entering into Harry Harper's filling station, one mile south of Tiffin on State route 53 earlier in the night and stealing pennies, chewing gum, cigars and candy, police said.

The boys were arrested after a report was turned into the police by Ira Salter, merchant policeman that the Moose club had been broken into. Investigation by police revealed entrance had been gained by taking the glass out of the front door sometime between 11:30 p. m. yesterday and 3 a. m. today. The cigaret machine had been pried open. Total loss has not been estimated.

The sheriff of Tiffin was notified after the boys admitted breaking into the filling station, and he came to Marion this morning to get them. They had been taken to the Marion county detention home.

The boys said they had intended hitch-hiking to Florida.

FOOD CONFERENCE GETS DOWN TO WORK TODAY

Delegates Hear Message from President Roosevelt.

By The Associated Press

HOT SPRINGS Va., May 19—The United Nations food conference, called to explore pathways to a world free from want, settled down to its task today in an atmosphere of mingled far-reaching hope and cautious realism.

The keynote of faith in ultimate achievement of world freedom from want was sounded in a message from President Roosevelt read to the conference's formal opening session last night vigorously affirming that the world owes every man his daily bread.

"Society must meet in full," the President said, "its obligation to make available to all its members at least the minimum adequate nutrition."

Judge Marvin Jones of the United States delegation who was elected permanent chairman by the 45 assembled delegations appealed for global economic and political collaboration to make the next 100 years "the people's century."

"What humanity wants," he said in the opening address, "is not charity, but a free opportunity—the chance to work and help to build."

AREA WAR MANPOWER APPEALS DECIDED

Two Cases Studied; Committee May Be Expanded.

The Marion Area War Manpower committee sustained the U. S. Employment Service office in two cases where it issued statements of availability previously refused by employers, when the committee met in the employment offices Monday night.

In one case the worker sought and obtained from the employment office a statement of availability for other work on the contention that she was employed only part of the time at her highest skill.

In the other the commission decided a worker had been discharged by his former employer and that the employment office was justified in giving him a statement of availability even though the former employer refused to do so.

Officials said there is a possibility the Marion Area Manpower committee may be expanded by the addition of representatives of railroad management and labor, in view of the large number of railroad workers in the four-county area the committee serves.

They also commented on steps being taken by regional war manpower officials to combat activities of alleged labor brokers who have reportedly been seeking to lure skilled workers away from present jobs with attractive offers to take work elsewhere. The "brokers", allegedly "sell" the services of such workers to employers and collect a substantial fee out of the worker's salary.

Britain had only 25 motor torpedo boats when she entered the war in 1939.

350 Harding Pupils To Stage Wartime Physical Education Show Thursday

Final Plans Made for Variety Program Tomorrow Night at 8 in Harding Stadium.

Marion citizens will be given an opportunity to view the actual accomplishments of Harding High school's 1942-43 wartime physical education program when some 350 boys and girls of the school present a mass physical demonstration at Harding stadium tomorrow night at 8 p. m.

The eight girls' physical education classes under the direction of Miss Florence Coover and the seven boys' classes supervised by Victor Dorris have been practicing their respective roles in the demonstration at the school for the past month. The demonstration will be divided into 12 main events with six events in which boys exclusively participate, two all-girl performances, and four mixed events. A varied list of activities has been drawn up by Miss Coover and Dorris so as to give the public of Marion a comprehensive view of the Harding High physical department for this year.

Band To Play

The demonstration will begin with playing of the National Anthem by the Harding High band under the direction of Homer Huffman. Boys and girls from the fourth period physical education classes will then start the demonstration proper with the grand march. This march will have a patriotic twist with various Victory formations. Miss Coover and Dorris will lead this opening fanfare with a boy and girl from the fourth period group as their partners. Immediately after the grand march, the same class of boys will go into preassigned positions and perform mass calisthenics under the direction of a student leader.

The fourth event on the program will be demonstration of the fundamentals of boxing and wrestling as taught at Harding this year. While the third period boys' class goes through the basic principles of the two combatives, four boys from the fourth period will be putting their training into use in actual boxing and wrestling matches. An important part in Harding High pre-induction physical prepping, military marching, will be the fifth activity on the demonstration program. The Harding boys' Victory Corps, which has been drilling once a week at the armory for the last few months, will furnish the personnel for this part of the demonstration.

Group Games

Boys and girls from the first and second period physical education groups will then present group games. First the girls will participate in group sports, followed by the boys. Among these games are nimble jack, rooster fight, one leg combat, bear fight, master of the ring, crab tug of war, rope tug of war and crab soccer. Included in the sixth demonstration event will be relays and stunts. Boys from the fifth, sixth and seventh period gym classes will take part in the relays. The stunts will be given by the fourth period boys. These stunts, which develop the resourcefulness and ingenuity of the individual, include spider jump, kangaroo jump, deep knee bend frog balance, hand wrestle, Indian wrestle, jump the shot and link arm push.

Miss Coover's girls will then demonstrate soccer baseball, a favorite sport among Harding female physical education pupils this year. The diversity of the Harding program this past year will be shown by the eighth event, which will be the La Conga, presented by the fourth period girls' and boys' classes. This Latin-American dance will mark the final appearance of mixed groups in the demonstration.

A military obstacle course, a favorite conditioner in the country's service camps, will try the endurance and skill of Harding boys in the ninth event of the demonstration. High school boys have been working on the construction of this course for the past three weeks. It will include most of the hazards and obstacles already all too familiar to American soldiers in training.

Tumbling Squad

The Harding tumbling squad, one of Dorris' innovations in the physical education department of Harding this year, will present a thorough exhibit of tumbling, group balancing, and pyramids as the tenth event. This squad, under the student leadership of co-captains Tom McGinnis and Bob Taylor, consists of 16 boys well versed and competent in advanced gymnastics. For their part of the demonstration, the high school acrobats will start with preliminary feats such as forward and backward roll, leap frog, dives, various types of novelty animal walks and will graduate into more difficult and intricate skills such as somersaults, head spring into kip, and several forms of pyramids.

Miss Coover's girls will demonstrate the modern dance as the eleventh event of the program. Development of rythim and coordination through dancing has been one of the foremost activities in the girls' classes this year.

Two New Machines Speed Making of U. S. Munitions

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 19 — Two new machines mothered by wartime necessity today are increasing the production and effectiveness of munitions.

One is a combination heat induction and spinner device which, developers claim, shapes castings for high-explosive bombs in only two operations, compared with ten steps sometimes required previously.

The other is a machine for testing fuse springs to make certain they will set off projectiles at the right time and with the greatest force.

Perfected by the Wheeling Steel Corp. and used in its Portsmouth, O., plant, the spinner and heat inductor completely shapes a 500-pound bomb casing in 14 minutes elapsed time, the company says.

Casings are cut from heavy steel pipe about 11 and 15 inches in diameter. These are placed in the inductor and high frequency electrical currents are passed through the end to be shaped to a point. The currents cause molecular friction which heats the metal to a temperature of 2,000 to 2,200 degrees fahrenheit. This induction heating process was developed by the Ohio Crankshaft Co. and has been used widely in other munitions operations.

After heating, the bomb casing slides to a spinner that quickly shapes the nose and then is conveyed through a cooler for the tilling operation, in which the opposite end of the case is heated and spun.

The spring testing machine, invented by engineers of the American Steel & Wire Co., automatically examines, sorts and classifies these parts according to length, load capacity and deflection.

Testing within extremely close tolerance formerly was a tedious process performed entirely by hand.

INVASION WARNING SPREAD IN ITALY

Italian Writers Also Point To Difficulties of Attack.

By The Associated Press

Italian military writers and commentators frankly warned the Italian people today of prospects of invasion and at the same time emphasized the difficulties of such an operation.

The Berlin radio broadcast a dispatch by the military correspondent of Il Popolo D'Italia, who asserted that although the United Nations had a good base in Africa, "they still would have to cross the Mediterranean." The correspondent said the Mediterranean was "extremely narrow" at some points and any concentration of shipping for an invasion attempt could not escape aerial attack.

The Corriere Della Sera of Milan declared in another article broadcast by the Berlin radio that the recent torpedoing of an enemy cruiser and a medium-sized freighter was proof the allies had not solved their shipping problems in the Mediterranean.

Virginio Gayda, prominent Fascist writer, acknowledged yesterday in reports reaching Bern that leaflets dropped over Rome urged the Italian people to accept peace. Gayda added that no hint as to the kind of peace offered was given but asserted it appeared it would include, in effect, the destruction of the Italian nation and her possibilities for the future.

Former Propaganda Minister Alessandro Pavolini, director of Il Messaggero, said "it is useless" for the allies to believe Italy could be conquered without invasion or that "aerial terror" could break Italian morale. His statement was broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by The Associated Press.

RED AIR ATTACK TELLING ON NAZIS

Russians Report 930 Planes Destroyed in Week.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, May 19—The telling blows dealt German air and supply bases during the past three weeks by Soviet airmen were reflected today in a front-line dispatch to Red Star, army newspaper, which said: "The Germans have begun to shift their air forces from Crimean airdromes to reinforce their exhausted air forces."

There was no elaboration in Red Star, but the Russians announced officially they had destroyed or damaged 930 enemy planes in the week May 2-8, and had destroyed 370 planes from May 9 to May 15.

Russian pilots have downed 25 German planes over the front lines in the past three days, and German planes have attempted to raid Russian communications behind the Svsok front but their bombing has been ineffective, a dispatch said.

Land fighting has failed to keep step with the bitter aerial warfare although renewed activity was reported from the Kuban and Lisichansk areas.

Northeast of Novorossisk in the Kuban, where the Germans have been counter-attacking for days in attempts to drive Red troops from the city's inner defenses, the Nazis lost a hundred dead in a futile attack last night. Fighting continued in the lower reaches of the Kuban river also.

drive needed average daily sales of $12,310.50 to go over the $325,000 goal. This was based on sales totaling $201,800.25 up to Tuesday and with 10 selling days left in May.

He pointed out that sales are not counted until the bonds are actually issued, and urged all workers to turn in purchase applications as fast as they are signed.

The chairman, in his message to the workers, said, "Some of the solicitors have remarked that the bomber campaign was too close to the Victory Loan drive to be successful. I wonder how our boys in Africa who are attacking night and day, day after day, must react to the statement that we, here at home, can't get 10 per cent of our average monthly payroll to buy 'em a bomber to blast hell out of Berlin. This is war on the home front, and our objective is $325,000 or about $6.25 for every resident of Marion county. It amounts to about 10 per cent of the county's monthly payroll."

He concluded his message by quoting a slogan suggested by a soldier: "If you can't buy another bond, toll a soldier why not."

Gold Star Parents in Bond Buyer List

A former Marion county couple who already have given the life of a son in the current war prepared today to help the war effort along by purchasing a $500 war bond for Marion county's bomber.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Z. P. Davis, whose son, Lieut. Ralph Davis, was killed in an airplane crash during a flight in this country April 3, 1942.

Mrs. Davis, writing from Sebring, O., addressed her inquiry to Mrs. Carl Dunner, chairman of the women's division of the bomber campaign who is currently heading the "War Mothers Week" of the bomber drive. She asked for an application form for a $500 bond. Mr. Davis former Marion city solicitor, is now employed as an attorney by the U. S. Army corps of engineers.

KENTON—Corporal Oliver Renfrew, Kenton, has been transferred to an overseas unit of the radio communication service, U. S. Army Air Force, it was announced today. He was stationed at Patterson Field, Dayton, until a week ago.

Powder Monkey

On board ship and in the artillery their buddies call them "powder monkeys." Not disrespectful, just a personal, intimate term between friends. Civilians call them gun crews. During a battle the crews of "powder monkeys" must work like trojans bringing the ammunition to the guns.

The gun may fire an anti aircraft .50 calibre shell or a broadside from the 16 inch guns of a great battleship, but in either event the "powder monkey" must pass millions of dollars' worth of ammunition to make the gun effective, and your savings in War Bonds are necessary to supply the financial ammunition that provides the shells.

Naming of Sports Board Predicted

President Expected To Pick Group To Study War Time Program.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 19—Indications are that a three-man commission to study the wartime sports situation and make recommendations to President Roosevelt will be appointed soon by the Chief Executive, probably this week.

President Roosevelt told reporters at his press conference at Washington yesterday that he was considering such a committee, following receipt of many letters in which some writers urged sports be dropped for the duration as a conservation measure and others urged they be continued as morale-building factors.

The President added that he did not know at the time of conference whom he would appoint.

Officials of such spectator sports as racing, professional baseball and football and college football are hopeful of having a representative on the committee.

Previous to the President's announcement there was some agitation for the appointment of a sports "czar," similar to the post held by William Jeffers in the rubber industry.

Senator Mead (D-N.Y.), who also is an official of the Buffalo club in the International baseball league, was mentioned for that position and his name remained in the forefront as a selection for one of the committee berths.

Others mentioned included John Kelly of Philadelphia, head of the Hale America movement early in the war; and Herbert Bayard Swope, New York state racing commissioner who is known to have been in Washington recently.

NEW YORK, May 18—Problem in addition:...Last Saturday this message from Capt. Val (Dutch) Lentz, former West Point basketball coach now on duty in North Africa, appeared in the Baltimore Evening Sun: "It's a hard man's game and one must be able to take it. Advise lots of leg experience for those coming over—walking and running distances."....The same afternoon Michigan won the Big Ten track championship without taking a single first place and N.Y.U. took the I. C. 4-A title with only two firsts...Which apparently proves that you don't have to have a team of world beaters to win track meets but maybe track and field sports will help give our side a team of world-beaters....Notice we said "help."

Cincinnati Reds Still Dislike the New Balata Ball

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 19 — "That new balata ball may be a little livelier than the bundle of rags we were hitting against the first week of the season — but not much," says big Frank McCormick, Cincinnati Reds first baseman.

He voiced the concensus of the Cincinnati players who maintain the 1942 ball is much livelier, all arguments by some of the game's bigwigs to the contrary.

Yesterday, in pre-game batting practice at the Polo Grounds, where the Reds later took the measure of the New York Giants 3 to 1, the Reds used some of their own baseballs manufactured by a Tennessee company, and frequent long drives were seen popping into the far stands.

However, McCormick's performance at the plate this season now seems to contradict his contention. His batting average of .344 is second only among the Redlegs to Lonnie Frey's, who is belting the balata to the tune of .360.

Cincinnati made it two-in-a-row over the hapless Giants yesterday mainly because of two New York miscues and a spot of sandlot base-running of Billy Jurges, Giant shortstop.

Elmer Riddle, who gave the Giants all of their five hits, was removed in the eighth and fireman Joe Beggs came in to take credit for the win.

Trying for three-in-a-row Manager McKechnie sends Johnny Vander Meer to the mound today against Bill Lohrman.

Relatives received word from the war department the former San Jose State athlete was killed in an "airplane accident."

Major Birlem, who had been in Europe only three weeks, was commanding a Flying Fortress squadron in which Capt. Clark Gable, former movie star, was said to be a gunner.

Overmire Was a Bargain

By DILLON GRAHAM
AP Features Sports Editor

NEW YORK—What's Going On: Detroit fans are wondering whether the $400 bargain will turn out to be a better buy than the $52,000 beauty. Little-talked-about Frank Overmire, southpaw pitcher, cost the Tigers the small amount; ballyhooed Dick Wakefield brought the five-figure price.

Everyone continues strong on Wakefield, touted as a terrific hitter but still a bush-leaguer in fielding, and now the fans have also discovered Overmire and climbed on his bandwagon. Why? Because the youngster pitched 15 scoreless innings in the spring exhibitions. Both Wakefield and Overmire played with Steve O'Neill's Beaumont Texas league last year.

Somebody's Wrong Dept.: Dixie Walker of the Dodgers gives his racial origin as Scotch Irish in this year's National league Green Book while his brother, Harry, of the Cardinals says he's English.

Baseball clubs, says War Manpower Commissioner McNutt, should be able to get along with men over 38 and youths up to 18 if that becomes the case, the majors will have to do some widespread recruiting from the kindergarten and the old folks home. Because, as of present date, there are no 17-year-olders in the majors and only nine greybeards past 38.

Carl Hubbell, Giants; Estel Crabtree, Reds; Fred Fitzsimmons, John Cooney and Paul Waner, Dodgers, are the only past-38 National Leaguers. The junior circuit has Mike Ryba and Al Simmons of the Red Sox, Joe Heving, Indians, and John Niggeling, Browns.

There are 14 National Leaguers between 35 and 38 and 19 American Leaguers. The senior loop has 56 players between 30 and 35, with another 49 in the junior loop. All other big leaguers are under 30.

These are the 35-38 group:

National—Leo Durocher, and John Allen, Dodgers; Paul Derringer, Cubs Ray Starr, Reds; Dick Bartell, Ray Coombs, Gus Mancuso, Bill Jurges and Mel Ott, Giants; Walt Beck and Charles Klein, Phillies Banks Sewell and Al Lopez, Pirates and Deb Garms, Cards.

American — Joe Cronin, Red Sox; Thornton Lee, Bill Swift, Joe Kuhel and Moose Solters, White Sox; Mel Harder, Gene Desautels and George Susce, Indians; Tommy Bridges, Roger Cramer and Rip Radcliff, Tigers Johnny Murphy, Jim Turner, Bill Dickey and Rollie Hemsley, Yankees; Earle Brucker, Athletics; Bob Johnson, Senators, and Fritz Ostermueller and Rick Ferrell, Browns.

It's a pretty good bet that the Dodgers will top the National league standing a month after the season opens. Why? Because Brooklyn plays its first 19 games against the Phillies, Braves and Giants. Also because the Dodgers were "hot" as the season opened after compiling a better exhibition game record than any other club. . . . The schedule, however, favors the Cardinals in the last month and Brooklyn's old men may fall apart by that time and not have the stamina for the stretch run.

Baseball's dark horse team: The Cubs. They finished sixth last year but an improved pitching staff plus a pair of good rookies in Heinz Becker and Eddie Stanky may make them a serious contender.

HARDING DRILLING FOR BEXLEY GAME IN DISTRICT TOURNEY

High School Squad To Meet Lions at Columbus Friday.

In preparation for Friday's twice postponed semi-final round game with Bexley in the Central district tournament, Harding baseball coach Vic Dorris has been drilling his charges on hitting, base running, and general team strategy in this week's rained practices.

As tomorrow night's practice at Lincoln park will be the final pregame prepping for the Presidents, diamond fundamentals will be reviewed thoroughly. Especially in the hitting department, where the Harding horsehiders have shown a noticeable weakness in contests thus far, are the Prexies struggling to improve in order to have even a fighting chance with the hard slugging undefeated Lions.

Harding and Bexley will play their semi-final tilt on diamond 2 at Ohio State university. Inopportune rain forced cancellation of last Saturday's first try at a regulation game between the Prexies and Lions, with the same factor causing postponement of Monday's second scheduled affair.

Lefthander Don Kay, possessor of a blazing fast ball that was none too hard for Bexley to hit last Saturday in two innings of play, will handle the starting mound assignment for Harding. The rest of the President lineup will probably be the same that started against Bexley last Saturday. That would be: Ralph Weber, second base; Jim Bowers, third base; Norman Dillinger, left field; Kay, pitcher; Elvin Beach, catcher; Bob Virden, shortstop; Dick Mulvaine, center field. Don Shirk, right field; and Chuck Fazio, first base.

Thumbnail Description of N. L.

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

A thumbnail description of the National league goings-on can be given in one paragraph — the leaders are the Brooklyn Dodgers, the best team probably is the St. Louis Cardinals, the most surprising is the Boston Braves and the most publicized the Philadelphia Phillies.

If anybody wants to extend this survey to a callover of the cellar field, we might add that the Cincinnati Reds are a first division team still having growing pains, Pittsburgh is running true to form, the New York Giants are groggy and the Chicago Cubs are the biggest disappointment.

The Cardinals came surging back at Brooklyn yesterday to retaliate for the 1-0 loss of their series opener by overpowering the Dodgers 7-1. The Redbirds raided three Brooklyn pitchers for 11 hits while two southpaws, Ernie White and Harry Brecheen, smothered the Dodgers on [illegible] hits.

Although the Cardinals [illegible] pressed, they were unable to regain second place in the [illegible] inks because the pumpkous Bra[illegible] clattered the Pittsburgh P[illegible] 4-0. Al Javery pitched a [illegible]nal to shade Rip Sewell, [illegible] though the latter allowed [illegible] five safeties in absorbing his [illegible] defeat of the season.

The Phillies pounced on the Chicago Cubs 5-4 in a night game viewed by 20,823 fans (a [illegible] nocturnal turnout of the season for their third straight victory and eighth in 12 games. Si Johnson was tight in the pinches, although allowing 11 hits to his teammates' six, and Babe Dahlgren batted in three runs.

The victory raised the Phillies into a tie with Cincinnati for fourth place and also sent the Cubs staggering to their seventh straight loss.

The Reds nipped the New York Giants again 3-1 in ten innings.

For the second successive day all American league clubs were kept idle by weather conditions.

Only Two Games Played by Association Teams

By The Associated Press

The American Association stressed quality over quantity when restricted to two games last night and came up with a pair of two-hit pitching performances.

Floyd Speer of St. Paul shut out Columbus 3 to 0 for his first victory of the season. The other two-hitter resulted from the combined efforts of Louisville's Jim Wilson and Charley Schupp. Louisville, however, had to remain at work through its home half of the ninth inning before beating out Kansas City, 4 to 3.

The Minneapolis game at Toledo, was carried over last night because of a test blackout and two games will be played tonight. Weather forced a postponement of the Milwaukee-Indianapolis contest.

Indians and Red Sox Play at Stadium Tonight

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 19—Unless weather interferes for the third time, the Cleveland Indians will open their series with the Boston Red Sox at the lakefront stadium tonight.

Jim Bagby, ace of the tribe mound staff, will bid for his fifth victory. Tex Hughson, head man among the Red Sox hurlers, will oppose him.

A double header is scheduled for League park tomorrow. Jack Salveson, who shut out the Philadelphia Athletics 2 to 0 Saturday, will pitch one of the games. Pete Center will make his first start for the Indians in the other.

The rest-pause that refreshes

Welcome in peace... more welcome in war work

ASK plant managers what a rest-pause means to workers in war production . . . more work-contentment. And contentment increases output. Add refreshment to a rest-pause and the feeling of contentment is increased. That's a reason why you find ice-cold Coca-Cola so welcome in war plants.

Ice-cold Coca-Cola goes beyond just quenching thirst to bring you refreshment. Its delicious goodness always delights your taste. Here is a drink made with a finished art, quality you count on. The only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola, itself.

Letters from plant managers from coast to coast emphasize that the little moment for an ice-cold Coca-Cola means a lot to workers in war plants. It's a refreshing moment on the sunny side of things . . . a way to turn to refreshment without turning from work.

Try ice-cold Coca-Cola with your lunch. You'll like the way its taste and refreshment add to the pleasure of eating.

Churchill Promises Aid Against Japs

group divided, some sitting in the galleries with wives of legislators and diplomats, while others had seats on the floor with members of the American cabinet, supreme court and heads of the armed services.

Lord Halifax, the British ambassador, was on the floor, as well as Field Marshal Sir Archibald Wavell, Admiral Sir James Somerville, Air Marshal Sir Richard Peirse, Lord Lethers, Lord Cherwell, and Sir Ronald Campbell.

After his address, the Prime Minister was to be given a luncheon in the senate foreign relations committee room by Chairmen Connally (D-Tex) of that group and Bloom (D-NY) of the house foreign affairs committee.

Secretaries Hull, Morgenthau, and Stimson finally walked up a long flight of steps to the house chamber after an elevator filled with legislators kept passing them by.

Bright klieg wood lights illuminated the scene in the house chamber. A quarter of an hour before Churchill was to mount the rostrum the galleries were jammed.

Cheers Greet Pair

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor were greeted with an outburst of cheering that lasted two minutes when they entered the gallery and took front row seats. Both bowed smilingly in acknowledgement.

Applause Is Thunderous

To a thunderous burst of applause, Churchill walked into the chamber at 12:31 p. m. He was escorted down the center aisle by a committee of three senators and three representatives, representing the leaders of Republican and Democratic parties in congress.

Churchill was greeted by Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) in his office before they entered the house chamber.

The prime minister went around the speaker's office to shake hands with each clerk. Then, while the audience was waiting in the house chamber, he sat down and made a few last minute changes in his speech.

Entering the chamber Churchill was greeted by an ovation that lasted two minutes and was punctuated by rebel yells. Speaker Rayburn introduced the visitor with the assertion that his is a high mark in the nation's history with congress having as its guest, "one of the most distinguished figures on earth."

There was another burst of applause before Churchill began talking at 12:34 in clear, clipped syllables.

Churchill said 17 months had passed since he addressed congress for the first time and for more than 500 days since the Allies have battled shoulder to shoulder against a mighty enemy and acted in close concert in many parts of the world.

He counted it a "high mark" in his life, he asserted, to be invited to come back before the American legislature.

He said "there is nothing more important for the future of the world than fraternal association" of our peoples in the prosecution of a "rigorous war" and in peace.

Cites British Interest

The British, he declared, have as much interest in retrieving allied possessions lost to the Japanese in the Pacific as the United States.

He described the fall of Singapore as the greatest—or at any rate the largest—military disaster in Britain's history.

Referring to the loss of the Philippines, of the Dutch Indies and of Malaya, he said:

"All of this has to be retrieved."

Churchill said he wanted to "repudiate any suspicion" that Britain is holding anything back from prosecution of the war in the east.

He reported that in his 1942 conferences with President Roosevelt the task of fighting the axis had been divided at sea, with this nation taking over the "main responsibility" for prosecuting the war against Japan.

This included, he said, the task of defending Australia from invasion — which he called more threatening in 1942 than now.

Churchill, speaking from notes, told his listeners that anti-submarine measures had yielded record results recently, particularly in the last three weeks.

"While I regard the U-boat danger as still the greatest we face, I have confidence it will be met, contained and overcome," he said.

Alluding to the aerial offensive being carried out against Germany, Churchill said the British have been "vastly aided" by American day bombings.

The increasing numbers of American and British planes are being felt, he said, adding:

"There is no doubt the allies vastly out-number the air forces of the hostile forces of Germany, Italy and Japan."

Britain's air offensive, he continued, is forcing Germany to withdraw "more and more" planes from the fighting fronts to assign them to "purely defensive" operations at the expense of loss of aggression and initiative.

Factor in Victory

That, he said, will prove a "major factor in bringing victory."

Churchill said the present allied air war already has begun to "show the first mortal weakness" of the European enemy.

The more this is carried on, he added, the better for the allies because they can replace planes quicker and in greater numbers than the axis.

Declaring opinion is divided over whether air power alone can bring Germany and Italy to collapse, he said the "experiment is well worth trying."

"Certainly," he remarked amid laughter, "there is no harm in finding out."

Anyhow, he said, all are agreed that damage done to German industry by the air raids, including the recent ones destroying power dams, has been an "unparalleled devastation."

"It is our settled policy," he went on, "to make it impossible for Germany and Italy to carry on any war industry on a large scale either in Germany or Italy or occupied nations."

As for the hoped-for meeting with Stalin and Chiang, Churchill said that "how, when and where" the meeting might come off was something about which he could shed "no clear ray of light" at this time.

There was laughter when he added he wouldn't disclose such facts if he knew them.

The prime minister drew cheers when he declared that at the earliest possible moment an air offensive must be launched at military targets in Japan.

Says Japs Dread Future

He struck out at the "cold-blooded execution" of American aviators by Japan but said it indicated Japanese "dread" of the possibility of future aerial attacks.

A responsive house chuckled when he said that "lots of good people can lay good plans if they do not have to carry them out."

Referring to his conferences with Mr. Roosevelt, Churchill said that the "supreme objective" of all planning is to come to grips with the enemy on the largest possible scale at the earliest possible moment "wherever that is profitable and—I may say—wherever it is possible."

Noting that Prime Minister MacKenzie King "is here with us today," Churchill, while the house cheered, paid tribute to Canada's "massive" contributions to the war effort.

And Britain's war leader had words of praise, too, for America's war production as he told of the parts its weapons played in the defeat of Rommel at El Alamein and his long retreat across Africa.

Reviewing the African campaign, Churchill said the allies' success there "gives the lie to Nazi and Fascist claims that parliamentary democracies were incapable of waging effective warfare."

No one can measure the results of the African victory, he said, but its opening of the Mediterranean is "worth several hundred ships."

The victory there was a blow to the enemy equal to the one he suffered at Stalingrad, Churchill said, with the axis losing a quarter-million of its best troops and "vast masses of material."

He said that while the African campaign was well planned "the unexpected came to the aid of the design"—and the allies could attribute a part of their smashing victory "to the military genius of Corporal Hitler."

It was the "insensate obstinacy" of Hitler, he declared, that caused the axis to lose so heavily in men and equipment in Africa.

At one point Churchill said Britain has suffered more than double the United States loss in merchant tonnage but added that ship construction exceeded losses.

SCHOOL GROUPS WIN APPLAUSE

Band and Orchestra Present Concert to Large Crowd at Edison Jr. High.

The auditorium at Thomas A. Edison Junior High school was practically filled for the annual Harding High school band and orchestra concert given Tuesday evening under the direction of Homer E. Huffman, instrumental music supervisor in the city schools. The program, which included semi-classical and popular selections, was one of the most enjoyable musical events of the year, and the musicians received well-merited applause. At the close of the program the ensembles played the Harding High fighting song "The Red and Black," composed by Richard Myers, an alumnus of the school.

A check of receipts for the program has not been completed. Proceeds will be placed in a general music fund to be used for musical equipment.

Pearl Keynon and LeRoy Swindler are captains for a ticket selling contest conducted by the orchestra and band. Losers in the contest will provide the refreshments for the annual picnic to be held May 31 by the two organizations. Sanford Lane is president of the band, Kenneth McKee, secretary and Frances Haas, librarian. Officers of the orchestra are Virginia Stuckey, president, Ann Thomas, secretary and Nellie Rowland, librarian.

FIVE IN GALION FAMILY SERVE U. S.

Special to The Star

GALION, May 19—With five boys in the family in the armed forces of the country, three in the Navy and two in the Air Forces, and the remainder of the family at home engaged in work on the home front, the Clyde Richardson family of Galion, couldn't do much more to help the United Nations win the war.

So far the most eventful career in the armed forces is that of William Richardson, only 18 last November, who, the family believe, has been on three torpedoed boats. William is a seaman, first class, and is addressed at Treasure Island, San Francisco, Calif. He was president of the 1942 graduating class of Galion High school, and soon after graduation enlisted in the Navy. By fall his Navy auxiliary was sunk after it had been torpedoed by a German U-boat while on convoy duty in the Caribbean. All members of the crew were saved and were picked up in lifeboats by a Norwegian ship after seven hours at sea. In December, a letter to the family, indicated that a second ship had met with an accident, details of which have not yet been learned here. Last message home was a cablgram on April 27 which looked like he had been in trouble for the third time. The message read: "O. K. Will write soon." It was sent from a boat in the Pacific.

His brother, Sgt. Donald Richardson, 23, is located at the Satilite Airdrome, Port Angeles, Wash. Another brother, Robert, 21, is at McIntire Dispensary, Great Lakes, Ill. The two other boys in the family, sons of Mrs. Richardson by first marriage are Pfc. Edward Rymal, 21, at Stinson Field, Tex., and James Rymal, 18, seaman second class, at gunner mate school, Great Lakes, Ill. He will graduate in June.

Italians Denied View of German Defenses

MOSCOW, May 19—Tass, official Russian news agency, quoted reports in Bern, Switzerland, today that German military authorities had declined the request of Gen. Vittorio Ambrosio, chief of the Italian general staff, that Italian military experts be permitted to inspect the "Atlantic wall."

While journalists have been allowed to view the fortifications, military experts, even of Germany's allies, have been refused permission under various pretexts, Tass said.

Girl Life Guards Hired for Pool at Bucyrus

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, May 19 — Life guards at Annuller park swimming pool this season will be girls, members of the park board announced following the regular meeting Monday night when three girls were employed for the summer.

Miss Hazel Kelly, high school gym teacher, will head the staff and she will be assisted by Miss Betty Cook and Miss Betty Shea, Bucyrus High school students. All have been approved by the Red Cross life saving division here.

Because continued rain has delayed the painting of the inside of the pool, opening of the park, scheduled for Memorial day, may be delayed, members of the park board advised.

GRAINS WEAKER AS TRADING CLOSES

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 19 — Grains weakened in the closing half hour today as fairly substantial liquidation came into the oats pit, erasing gains which at one time had extended to about a cent. The late selling was based on reports another steamer carrying oats from Canada had arrived here.

Selling of oats spread to wheat and rye, which had been steady earlier in the session. Interest in the market was light and the late liquidation uncovered an absence of bids. In the past two weeks, 4,223,419 bushels of oats have been loaded in Canadian ports for shipment to this country.

Replacement Schedules Approved by Goble

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 19—Ohio selective service has approved 346 manpower replacement schedules filed by employes, Col. C. W. Goble, state draft chief, said today.

The schedules, designed to facilitate orderly withdrawal of men from industry for military service, affect possibly 300,000 employes, Colonel Goble said. He added some were out-of-state residents employed by Ohio concerns.

Replacement schedules indicate what period an employer considers necessary to train a worker to replace a man scheduled for induction.

hit five trains in a four-hour period.

News of the Sunday night dambursting exploit, however, continued to make the headlines as examination of reconnaissance pictures taken yesterday showed floodtides rushing through the middle Ruhr toward Duisburg and beyond Kassel in the Weser valley.

Berlin admitted heavy civilian losses but declared damage "can be repaired partly in a short time."

Enemy raiders struck at London last night for the third successive night, giving the capital two separate alerts. The raiders dropped bombs at several points which an authoritative announcement said caused a small number of casualties and a little damage. One enemy plane was destroyed.

The Eighth U. S. air force helped maintain the prolonged aerial softening-up attacks on the continent yesterday by sending its new Thunderbolt fighters on offensive patrol in force over axis targets in Belgium.

In another daylight foray British bombers attacked an enemy airfield at Abbeville in France. Earlier RAF typhoons bombed a plane dispersal area at Poix.

The German communique recorded by The Associated Press claimed 25 allied planes were downed yesterday in western and southern Europe.

Japanese Increase New Guinea Strength

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, May 19 — Indicating alarm over the allied ground menace to New Guinea's Huon gulf the Japanese have sent 102 planes since Saturday against the little mountain town of Wau, nearest allied supply and air base to the scene of the jungle fighting.

Wau is only 35 miles southwest of Salamaua, important Japanese air and shipping base on the gulf toward which the allies have been infiltrating from the south since the conquest of the Papuan peninsula. From it over a jungle track move men and supplies to the Mubo area, 12 miles from Salamaua. The Japanese hold Mubo and its airfield but allied troops look down on it from nearby ridge tops.

Yesterday, 25 bomb-carrying Zeros came over Wau at 15,000 to 18,000 feet, dropped 18 bombs, then swept down through bursts of anti-aircraft fire to machine-gun installations. Today's communique admitted some damage, but there were no casualties.

Other damage was caused Monday by 43 raiders. Last Saturday, 34 planes struck at Wau at the same time 64 others attacked the allies' most advanced position at Bobdubi, only five miles from Salamaua. At that time, Japanese ground troops opened an attempt to drive the allies out of Bobdubi. There has been no further news of that action but Japanese air action against Wau indicates the allied ground pressure still is felt and the bombing of Wau are intended to ease it.

Today's communique carried a revised checkup of losses suffered in the sinking last Friday off the Queensland coast by a Japanese submarine of the Australian hospital ship Centaur. It first was thought 363 persons were aboard, but an army navy checkup showed the total to be 332, reducing the number of lives lost from 299 to 268. There were only 64 survivors.

FLOODS

diana, Missouri, Illinois, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Ohio.

In Indiana, where at least one-third of the state was gripped by the worst flood in 30 years, some 10,000 persons were homeless in 20 counties. The main highways of flood were the Wabash, White and Mississenewa rivers but hundreds of other streams overflowed and plagued wide sections.

The Coast Guard and Army evacuated hundreds of families in St. Charles, Mo., where the stage of the Missouri river was expected to reach 36.3 feet, the highest since 1903 and sufficient to inundate 90,000 acres. Some army engineers expected the crest to exceed the 1844 record of 40.1 feet.

Col. Malcolm Elliott of the army engineers predicted "a major flood in the lower Missouri basin."

State guard troops were sent out in Indiana and Missouri. At West Terre Haute, Ind., where the levee collapsed, 6,000 persons left their homes. Two state guard companies were on duty at Joplin, Mo., where the waterworks was flooded and the city's supply was expected to become exhausted.

Pressure of the flood swollen Arkansas river broke the "Big Inch" oil pipe line and cut the flow of fuel from Texas to Illinois. Valves were closed promptly.

Estimates were that one million acres of farm and bottom land were flooded in Illinois and Indiana.

The Maumee river and its tributaries in northeastern Ohio forced many families from their homes and closed some roads and schools.

BOMBING

dropped bombs at several points despite heavy anti-aircraft fire.

Nazi censorship failed to prevent underground reports from leading out on the trial of death and destruction still progressing in the flooded Ruhr and Weser valleys.

Advices reaching Stockholm said giant walls of water sweeping down the valleys ruined spring crops, intensifying Germany's food problem, wrecked hydro-electric power plants and disrupted traffic on the reich's many inland canals.

RAF reconnaissance photos taken yesterday showed floodtides rushing through the middle Ruhr toward Duisburg and beyond Kassel after a 35-mile rampage down the Weser valley from the Eder dam. Duisburg lies at the junction of the Ruhr and Rhine rivers.

In the upper reaches of the Weser, only the tops of buildings jutted from the swirling waters.

In the Ruhr valley alone, 54 towns were under water, with particularly heavy damage centering at the industrial cities of Dortmund and Froendenberg where canal embankments and bridges were swept away.

Gasoline curtailment has shrunk the 3,000,000 private-car licenses of pre-war Britain to 250,000.

TOLEDO BLACKOUT

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

THERE WAS a gleam in my father's eyes as he answered my question which told me that his keen perception had grasped my reason for making it. He knew well as I that action, not sleep, was needed by Katharine if her mind were to be diverted from the odious meeting with Ruth Hayes, scheduled for two o'clock the next morning.

But I sent no answering gleam of understanding to him. I was glad to "leave well enough alone," and my answer was prompt and brief.

"Thank you," I said, "I will go first and send Noel back here. Then when he gets here, Katharine can come over to Mary."

"That will be a perfect arrangement," he said. "Go over as soon as you like. If I need either of you, I will stay here while I send Noel back to the apartment." He was walking toward the camouflaged door as he spoke and the next second it had closed after him.

Katharine Appreciative

Katharine's eyes held affectionate comprehension as she turned them upon me. "I might have known," she said. "You planned this for me on the spur of the moment when you saw how jittery I was over seeing that woman. I'm most grateful to you for winning your father over to the suggestion."

"I don't think he needed much winning over," I told her. "I can see that he dreads sending you to meet Ruth Hayes, and that he 'jumped at the chance' of having you do something which might divert your mind from it."

"He was very dear about it," she assented.

Then I put a quick question, to which I already knew the answer.

"How long before you will be ready to go over to Mary's apartment?" I asked.

Ready to Go

"I am ready now," she said.

"And I am also," I said, going to the telephone. I called Mary's apartment. Mary herself answered. The telephone was placed between the couch and the easy chair, the two places where she was supposed to spend her waking hours, so that she always had access to it.

"Lo, Auntie Madge!" came her lilting voice. "What's up?"

"I'll let you know when I get there. Aunt Katharine and I are coming over for a few minutes, and while we are there Father wants to see Noel. Will he be able to come over directly?"

"Wait a sec," she answered.

She called loudly "Noel!" and an instant later, I heard her transmit my query to him.

"He says he can come over right away, and stay as long as Grandpa Spencer wishes," she said.

"Ask him to wait there until I come over," I said. "Then by the time he gets here, Aunt Katharine will be ready to come too. Purposely I avoided any word which might hint at my father's fixed purpose never to leave my balcony suite without someone "of your own" in it, and Mary also dodged that issue.

"Okay!" she said cheerily. "I'll be seein' you, and Gosh! how glad I'll be. It's been all of twenty-four hours since you've been here."

"It will be only a few minutes more now," I told her, hanging up the receiver. Then I turned to Katharine. "I am going directly over and shall send Noel back here. When he gets here, will you come over?"

"On the second," she said with emphasis, and I went out with the expectation that I would be at Mary's within two or three minutes. But as I passed the door marked "Exit," diagonally across from mine, the voice of Stephen Redfield called me softly.

"Please come here a second, Mrs. Graham," he said.

YOUR HEALTH

Blood Bank

IN ALL metropolitan centers in the United States the Red Cross has established blood bank depots where our fellow citizens can go and contribute an amount of blood sufficient to use for emergency treatment for one soldier wounded on the battlefield.

Probably in no war in the history of civilization have more lives been saved by scientific emergency treatment for the wounded. The three items which are universally agreed upon by military surgeons to have accomplished this are blood plasma, the sulfa drugs and modern anesthetics. Many men who are still alive and convalescent would have been recorded as "killed in action" in previous conflicts.

The statistics are impressive. Preliminary data on American Army casualties in 1942 show that of 4,100 wounded, a total of 156 died—a case fatality rate of a little more than 4 per cent, while the gross fatality rate recorded in World War I was 7.7 per cent, and in the British Army on the Western Front it was 7.6 per cent.

In some engagements even the 4 per cent record has been improved, as for instance among the Navy and Marine casualties. In the first three months in the Solomons the fatality rate was 1 per cent. The mortality rate from abdominal wounds, which in former years exceeded 50 per cent, was less than 5 per cent among the American troops in the Solomons.

Blood plasma is a development of the old method of blood transfusion. A blood transfusion means the injection of whole blood—the red blood corpuscles and all—into the patient's veins. It was pointed out as early as 1918 that probably blood plasma would become as valuable as whole blood in many cases. Blood plasma is blood which has had the red corpuscles and clotting elements removed. It can be mixed with a mild and harmless sterilized substance and can be kept practically indefinitely.

The whole blood which is obtained at the Red Cross blood bank is sent to a central laboratory and processed so that only the plasma remains and this is put up in convenient containers with needles and tubing connections, already sterilized, so that the plasma can be injected as quickly as possible and at the earliest possible moment.

The changes that occur in a wounded body consist first in loss of blood which is harmful because it removes bulk from the circulation of the body. As a consequence of the removal of bulk, the blood pressure falls, which means there is impending shock and other dangerous symptoms.

The processing of the whole blood, as carried out in the central laboratories of the Red Cross, makes it possible to administer the plasma without regard to blood groups. Most laboratories dry the plasma to a powder and it is packaged for medical use in a container with distilled water, which can be added to it immediately when it is to be used.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, May 20

A DISINTEGRATING and uprooting force may be at work this day. Such lowered spirits or morale may be at the root of these disastrous conditions. It is possible that an appeal to some public group may be found of value in restoring affairs to a proper balance.

Those whose birthday it is may have to endure a year of sudden reversal, with uprooting from established order. The health as well should be kept in condition, since this debility might be a contributory cause. Affectional, domestic and social affairs also call for circumspection.

A child born on this day may have sudden reversals in its career, possibly caused by ill health or a depressed state of mind. Its best success might be in public service.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Para-Ski Troopers

When will this war end? Nobody knows, so the Army is continuing its training of Para-Ski Troopers. They're parachute troops who know their way about on skis or any other place in snow covered mountainous country.

A great measure of the success of Russia's victories last winter is attributed to these troops who move with the silence of a snowflake. Our work on the home front is not so hazardous as that of the Para-Ski Troopers but it is important that we perform our daily tasks and make every effort to increase our regular purchase of War Bonds.
